Regenerative Braking

Regenerative braking recovers kinetic energy that friction brakes turn into heat.

The traction motor runs as a generator and charges the battery while the train slows.